The Scope and Scale of Rotary Volunteering

- A new study released by the Johns Hopkins Center for Civil Society Studies presents key findings about the global Rotary movement:
- Rotary's volunteer 'workforce' gave 47 million volunteer hours in 2019.
- Rotary volunteers amount to the equivalent of 27,000 full-time workers.
- Rotary's efforts save communities US$850 million per year.
- 98% of Rotary members said the organisation's focus on delivering service was important to them joining.
- Members aged 56 and over represented over half of volunteer hours, and members 25-55 over a third.
- Members dedicate their time in a variety of fields, with health, education and social support being the most popular.
- The most popular volunteering role is that of a project organiser.
- Rotary is still succeeding in recruiting new.

In Brief

Thank you to everyone that made a donation at the Christmas Crib display in the Conduit during the festive season. As well as making a donation to the Scouts for helping to erect the display, your generosity has allowed us to donate £800 to therendezvous, which has been helping young people, aged 13-25, improve their lives for over 20 years.

Through a very generous donation by a local resident we have been able to purchase a new and wonderful nativity group that we look forward to showcasing next Christmas.
